Supreme Moment of Consecration

Rare picture of actual consecration of a bishop shows Archbishop Harold E. Sexton at "laying on of hands" which raises to episcopate. Bishop-elect Beattie kneels in front of Archbishop. Surrounding him are six other bishops: Bishop H. G. Watts, Prince Rupert; Bishop

T. Greenwood, Whitehorse; Archbishop W. R. Adams, New Westminster; Bishop G. P. Gower, Vancouver; Bishop A. H. Sovereign, Vernon, and Bishop Stephen Bayne, Seattle, of Olympia diocese in Washington. (Times Photos by Strickland.)

Dean Philip Beattie Consecrated Bishop

Christ Church Cathedral Crowded To Capacity for Splendid Ceremony

By W. S. HENDERSON

In a ceremonial of deep devotion and ecclesiastical splendor the Anglican Church consecrated a bishop here Sunday.

The Very Rev. Philip Rodger Beattie, BA, DD, was elevated to the episcopate in the presence of a congregation which crowded every available foot of space in the great Gothic edifice which is Christ Church Cathedral.

Those in the nave and the galleries saw in the sanctuary the entire Anglican episcopate of British Columbia and the Yukon, and with them the Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne, bishop of Olympia, Wash.

AGE-OLD PASSAGE

Bishop Bayne joined with the other bishops of the ecclesiastical province in laying hands on the bishop-elect when the Metropolitan, as consecrator, recited the age-old passage "Receive the Holy Ghost for the office and work of a bishop of the Church of God, now committed unto thee by the imposition of our hands." This act, which preserves the episcopal succession, was the high moment of the service.

During the ancient, moving rite, sunshine streamed in under the vaulted dome, touching the people and the clergy with a golden benediction.

The service, notable even for this cathedral, which has seen three bishops consecrated since it was opened in 1929, began with a litany sung in procession, with the congregation standing and singing the responses.

Twice the length of the nave, the procession ended when the crucifier, the choir, the clergy

Tentative Budget Shows Increase; To Be Whittled

Victoria property owners face a possible increase of $174,000 in their tax bill on land and improvements this year unless City Council is able to chop this amount off the tentative city budget submitted by Comptroller Dennis A. Young today.

The total budget calls actually for reduced civic expenditure by comparison with 1954, the proposed overall outlay being $6,601,221 as compared with $7,001,860 last year.

Of this amount the land and property owners would be required to pay $3,259,744, as against $3,085,363 in 1954.

The balance of revenue comes from numerous fees, license charges, government grants, etc. The new budget reflects the application of the new system of school grants and taxation, the government's new scheme of municipal grants, and the entire change in assessments brought about by the equalization scheme which went into effect this year.

FIVE POINTS

Significant facts in the budget include:

1. Although the school budget for the Greater Victoria area has gone up by $418,500, the city's contribution is reduced by $78,500.

2. On the other hand the city loses out in its overall government grants to the extent of $483,667.

3. As compared to a mill rate of 55 mills last year, the tentative rate for this year is 42.5 mills, based on an entirely different method of assessments.

One mill on the assessments last year produced $56,097, but on the new assessments one mill produces $74,724.

4. The 42.5 mill rate for 1955 would, however, raise the extra $174,000 indicated in the budget.

If council cuts estimates further, it will be reduced accordingly.

5. In the actual application of the new system it is estimated about half the property owners will pay higher taxes, and the other half lower taxes.

SHIFT TO IMPROVEMENTS

The emphasis in the scheme appears to shift the tax burden from land to improvements.

Council will sit each afternoon this week to consider ways and means of paring departmental estimates and further improving the tax picture.

Night sessions may be held toward the end of the week.

Comptroller Young showed city accounts down both in revenue and in expenditure due to the equalization of assessments and the new school formula. It could be compared to other years only in the end result—the effect on tax notices.

SMALL CHANGES

The burden of taxation has apparently been shifted from lands to buildings but in most cases the change amounts only to a few cents or a few dollars.

Diem Wins Out; Crushes Rebels

U.S.-Backed Premier Survives Turbulent Indo-China Coups

(Compiled From AP and UP Dispatches)

SAIGON—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, back in the South Viet Nam saddle, today crushed the rebellious Binh Xuyen pirate sect in last-ditch fighting in Cho Lon, Saigon's twin city.

The battle followed a week-end of coups and counter-coups that left the U.S.-backed Diem shaky on top of the Saigon heap.

VY FLEES

Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, named by Dao to succeed Diem in command of the army, lost out in the week-end's bewildering political and military moves, and fled to Dalat, 250 miles to the north.

Diem's junta seized power for the second time Sunday and scheduled a revolutionary assembly Wednesday to again depose French-backed Chief of State Bai Dai.

But Dao said at his French Riviera villa he won't accept the junta's decision and is determined to return to Indo-China when the confusion is ended.

NEW U.S. PLAN?

Diem's all-out attack on the rebel sect's stronghold followed talks with President Eisenhower's special envoy, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, just returned from Washington. He is said to have brought new U.S. plans to save South Viet Nam from falling prey to the Communists in the north.

Also arriving at Saigon today was Britain's Far East "trouble shooter," Malcolm Macdonald. He will make an on-the-spot report to Sir Anthony Eden at London.

Blizzard in Nfld.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A stinging blizzard plastered nearly 11 inches of snow over the Avalon peninsula during the week-end.

CCF Policies 'Dangerous' Says Thatcher

Commons Told Why He Quit

OTTAWA (BUP)—Independent Member of Parliament Ross Thatcher charged today that growing left-wing influence in the Social Party from which he bolted last month was leading it into policies "fraught with danger for all Canadians."

Thatcher entered the budget debate to give the Commons his first full explanation of why he left the party he led to victory in Moose Jaw, Sask., in the three federal elections.

The wealthy young Saskatchewan merchant and rancher detailed for the House his basic disagreement with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation on most of its major policies.

He said he would rather "leave public life than have to pretend agreement or hide frustrations."

"For some time I have been fearful of, and in disagreement with what appeared to me to be a growing left-wing tendency within the party," Thatcher said.

The leader of the CCF (M. J. Coldwell) and most of his colleagues, I know, have no more use for Communism and its sinister methods than I have. Nevertheless, despite the well meaning and sincerity of most CCF adherents, I feel that left-wing elements have gained a dangerous and unwarranted

Sweden Stops Polio Vaccine Inoculations

(From AP and UP Dispatches)

Sweden abruptly called off the anti-polio vaccination of 120,000 school children today. The board of health at Stockholm announced live virus had been found in some of the Swedish-made vaccine. The board also confiscated a third of the whole store of the Swedish serum.

The announcement made no mention of plans for resuming the vaccination program.

Meanwhile, the death of a second Idaho school girl of polio after being inoculated with Salk vaccine from the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., was announced by L. J. Peterson, director of the Idaho state health department.

The child, Janet Lee Kincaid, seven, of Moscow, Ida., died in a Spokane, Wash., hospital.

Susan Pierce, seven, of Pocatello, died of polio last Wednesday.

"This means," Peterson said, "that the vaccine conceivably could have been a contributing cause. We will not know for sure until exhaustive tests are completed."

However, in both Washington and London, plans were proceeding for mass inoculation of children with the Salk vaccine.

WORKMEN DROPPED TOOLS IN AMAZEMENT

Margaret Flashes Past Queen In Impromptu Royal Horse Race

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—A royal race with Queen Elizabeth riding one horse and Princess Margaret another—took place privately at the famous Royal Ascot track at nearby Windsor. Princess Margaret won.

The race of the two royal sisters was run recently in comparative privacy. Forty workmen and a top-batted riding master being the only witnesses.

One of the workmen, engaged in painting the stands, summed up enough courage Sunday to tell about it: "We saw them enter by the gate that joins Windsor Castle ground to the race course. They were in riding clothes, wearing colored head scarves. The Queen had on a yellowish one and the Princess a darker colored scarf. Following them on another horse was the riding master from Windsor Castle in top hat."

After walking their horses down to Ascot's Golden Gate they turned and came back. Just as they reached the three-furlong mark, Princess Margaret turned to the Queen and said something.

Quickly the riding master was left far behind as the royal sisters galloped neck and neck down the stretch.

The dazzled workmen dropped tools and watched in utter amazement.

It was a ding-dong battle for about 600 yards, but with about 30 yards to go Princess Margaret shot her horse ahead and beat the Queen by three lengths.

One of the workmen said Princess Margaret had a far larger horse than her sister. He said they both rode beautifully.

"They were laughing as they pulled up after the race," said the workman, "and then they trotted out the way they had come and went back to the castle."

A few more generous grants from the province an' our municipal taxes'll be so high we'll never be able to pay 'em.

If I c'd on'y find out which Viet Namease want Viet Nam I'd be glad to give it to 'em.

Looks like Spring's goin' to git here b'fore Summer after all.

Arthur Deakin, British Labor Leader, Dies

Was Bitter Foe
Of Communists

LEICESTER, Eng. (Reuters)—Arthur Deakin, one of Britain's most powerful and controversial trade union leaders, died here Sunday night after collapsing with a heart attack in the middle of a May Day speech. A bluff, outspoken former steelworker, Deakin, 64, was secretary of the 1,300,000-member Transport and General Workers' Union—the world's largest union outside Russia.

He was also the bitterest foe of Communists in the British union movement and a key figure in leading Western unions out of the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions in 1949.

Deakin collapsed on the platform he was telling a May Day rally about an 11th-hour settlement reached Saturday staving off a national rail strike threat. He clutched his chest and staggered back, falling against a chair.

Union members broke into tears as he was carried from the meeting. He died on reaching the hospital.

The big, booming-voiced labor leader won the nickname "the hammer of the Reds" for his relentless rooting of Communists from control points in British unions.

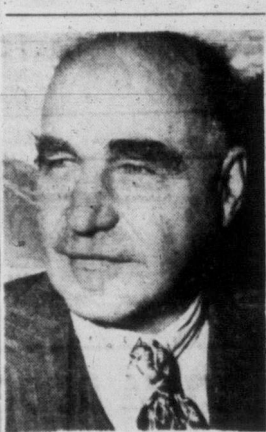

He was also a strong opponent of left-wing elements in the Labor party, where his dominant union post gave him great influence.

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden said Sunday night he was "deeply distressed" by Deakin's death and praised his "outstanding service to the British trade union movement and to his country."

Labor party leader Clement Attlee said Deakin's death was "a great shock to the Labor movement" and praised his courage and resolution "against Communists and other irresponsible agitators."

Deakin formerly held the key post of chairman of the Trades Union Congress, central body of British organized labor representing 8,000,000 members. He was due to retire from his post as transport workers' chief in November.

SHOT DEAD IN COLD BLOOD

N.Y. Honor Student Teen-Gang Victim

NEW YORK (UP)—A broken-hearted, disillusioned father made arrangements today to bury his son—an innocent victim of a teen-age gang war—in the "clean dirt" of a little mountain town and then move his family away from a spreading wave of juvenile crime in New York.

William Blankenship Sr., a civic-minded research chemist and father of four sons, said that the death of William Jr., 15, in a senseless street shooting Saturday night, had left him "whipped."

Frank (Tarzan) Santana, 17, smilingly confessed Sunday that he shot young Blankenship because he mistook him for a member of a rival gang with whom his own, "The Navajos," had been feuding. Eleven other members of the gang, all 16 or under, also were taken into custody.

MODEL BOY

Authorities described the victim as a model boy who was not a gang member, an honor student held in high regard by his teachers.

After funeral services here today, the father said "we're going to take the boy to Pennsylvania—where he was born—and we're going to put him into clean dirt."

"Then we're going to leave this city."

Blankenship is president of the Bronx Advisory Council, a civic group attempting to stamp out juvenile delinquency which police commissioner Francis W. A. Adams said Sunday was increasing here at an "alarming rate."

"I've been working hard in civic affairs, trying to help in my own way," Blankenship said. "I'm not a meddler, not a do-gooder, but I just tried to do my bit. And what happens?"

"My son was a perfect gentleman—and this was his reward."

Santana expressed no concern about his crime as he was fingerprinted and photographed at police headquarters for arraignment on a homicide charge.

Four teen-age girls, who had waited several hours, were outside the Bronx police precinct as the confessed slayer was led out and placed in a police van.

"I love you, Tarzan," one of them shouted.

Police said Santana and fellow members of his "Navajo" gang accosted young Blankenship Saturday night as the youth was walking to a movie theatre and asked him if he belonged to an enemy gang.

As Blankenship was denying membership in any gang, police said, Ralph (Superman) Falcon, 16, pulled out Santana's pistol, which he had been carrying.

"Don't point that gun at me," Blankenship said. The youth started to comply when Santana grabbed the pistol and fired. The bullet entered Blankenship's heart and killed him instantly.

FOUR YEARS IN WHEEL CHAIR

TV 'Miracle' Makes Cripple Walk

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—A deeply religious young mother, said to have been imprisoned in a wheel chair four years, says "something told me to get up and walk," and she did. She and her husband call it a miracle.

Mrs. Anna Williams, 22, said she was strangely compelled to rise from her wheel chair while watching a TV religious service Sunday. She and her husband, S. Sgt. Williams, of Sheppard air force base here, were watching the program with a couple with whom they live.

Said Mrs. Williams: "We were all praying, and something told me to get up and walk. I had a strange feeling from the bottom of my feet right to the top of my head." She said she stood up, shoved her wheel chair aside, took a few steps and fell crying into her husband's arms. "I just walked and walked," she added. "Then I danced. I didn't get weak at all. I was surprised that my legs seemed strong and didn't get tired."

STRONG LINK WITH CITY

Hudson's Bay Company Marks 285th Anniversary Today

By TONY DICKASON

There is no organization of any kind than the Crown itself that has so strong a link with Victoria as the Hudson's Bay Company.

The company today marks the 285th anniversary of its founding. It was on May 2, 1670, that King Charles II of England granted a charter to the "gentlemen adventurers of England trading into Hudson's Bay."

The company established this city as Fort Victoria—named after the girl queen—in 1843.

From the early 19th century to the wild days of the Fraser gold rush the HBC represented Britain on the northwest coast of America, and for nearly 30 stirring years had domination all the way from Sitka to California.

Its hold on the Pacific trading posts was largely responsible for keeping British Columbia for the Crown.

SWELLING TIDE

Sir James Douglas ruled the infant colony on Vancouver Island for both company and Crown, and as B.C.'s first governor saw the swelling tide of settlement which invariably replaced the fur trade.

During his tenure as chief factor the company pioneered the coal mining industry at Nanaimo, initiated farming at Uplands, built Victoria's first church and opened its first day school.

Nova Scotia Ferry Destroyed by Fire

PORT HAWKESBURY, N.S. (UP)—The 20-car ferry boat John Cabot was destroyed today in a spectacular dockside fire.

There were no casualties but the vessel was sunk at her berth to help put out the flames and prevent them spreading to four nearby oil storage tanks.

The building of Fort Victoria was a remarkable feat for not nails nor spikes but wooden pegs held it in place.

Today six large retail stores operate across Canada with the Victoria store the lineal descendant of Fort Victoria. It was also enlarged and modernized in 1950.

HBC sales last year were $159,762,000 and its taxes were $1,589,000 and its net trading profit $4,827,000. Fur consignment sales were $35,325. Its capital in use was $71,999,000.

Oakalla Reform Credited To Penal Body

Three-Man Commission in 1950 Laid Groundwork, Says Warden

(This is the last of three articles by Times staff reporter Tom Gould on conditions as he found them on a conducted tour of Oakalla Prison Farm.)

By TOM GOULD

What caused the peaceful revolution at Oakalla which turned the worst provincial prison in Canada into one that will be a model for the entire nation within two years?

Warden Hugh Christie gives credit to the penal commission of 1950 for laying the ground work for the new program.

The penal commission comprised Inspector of Jails E. G. B. Stevens, former deputy attorney-general Eric Pepler, and

Public Spotlight Turned On

In 1952, Christie took over as warden, and a few months later came the riot which threw the spotlight of public opinion on the hell-home that was Oakalla.

Almost immediately after the riot, Christie let newsmen in to see what made Oakalla merit its name as a breeding ground for crime.

They found young prisoners were being turned into drug addicts within the prison; hardened cons and addicts running the prison almost at will, 180 old men living in a condemned fire-trap, sex pervers,

Staff Almost Doubled

Since that time, the staff has almost doubled, from 177 at the time of the riot, to more than 300. More than $1,000,000 in capital, plus hundreds of thousands of dollars in convict labor, have been poured into the rotting buildings.

A new provincial jail at Haney is under construction. It will take over the Westgate program, handling 400 prisoners,

Volunteers Aid Changeover

Volunteer work has helped in the transformation of Oakalla. Dr. H. Lewison is an example of the enthusiastic help Christie is receiving.

Lewison donates his time and talents to provide plastic surgery to any inmate who has a psychological problem resulting from a facial abnormality.

Without fanfare, he attends the spotless prison hospital, whitening over-large noses, wiping out facial scars, assisting in the rehabilitation of countless prisoners.

A research team at Oakalla has perfected a new withdrawal technique for drug addicts. Instead of suffering months of excruciating pain, addicts now can be relieved of drugs in a

Abuse of Authority—Trouble

This leads to abuses of authority and trouble.

In addition, the new treatment program at Oakalla requires more work on the part of the guard. He must be concerned with rehabilitation as well as custody.

Oakalla guards start work at $225 a month. In five years, providing they pass all necessary tests, and earn their increments, they reach the peak, $281 a month.

"Vancouver city police pay $339 after three years," complains Christie.

He is battling for professional recognition for his staff, and higher wages which go with such recognition. A raise to a new pay scale of $275-$325 would cost B.C. taxpayers $15,000 a month, or $185,000 a year.

BCE Controls Westcoast Gas Sales in B.C.

Exclusive Contract Not Subject to PUC

SUNNYSIDE, B.C. (CP)

An exclusive gas contract was given to the B.C. Electric Company in February by Westcoast Transmitter Company for distribution of natural gas through the Fraser Valley.

W. C. Mainwaring, BCE vice-president, told some 200 lower mainland reeves, councillors and community representatives here during the week-end that the contract allows the company to take upwards of 130,000 cubic feet of gas daily for the Fraser Valley.

Mr. Mainwaring said Westcoast is not a common carrier because it buys all gas before it goes to the pipeline and "are free agents to sell it to whoever they wish. The company does not come under the Public Utilities Commission."

When questioned about possibility of municipalities wishing to distribute gas, Dr. H. L. Purdy said: "Natural gas being a highly competitive business, coal, wood and oil distributors would object to municipalities using tax money to subsidize a commodity in competition with them."

People throughout the province, service clubs, businessmen, opposition politicians, led by a hard-swinging newspaper campaign, demanded reforms at Canada's largest, and worst, provincial prison.

June 9 Likely Date For Ontario Election

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario said Saturday night he is planning to call a provincial general election for early in June. The date was not announced.

The premier speaking at the 50th annual meeting of the Western Ontario Progressive Conservative Association said he promises to advise Lieutenant-Governor Louis O. Breithaupt "that there be an early dissolution of the legislature and a general election early in the month of June."

The date of the election is expected to be announced today after a special cabinet meeting in Toronto. A provincial cabinet minister, who declined use of his name, told The Canadian Press Saturday the election date would be June 9.

Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader and Donald C. MacDonald provincial CCF leader, both said they welcomed the election announcement. Mr. Oliver was reached Saturday night while attending a Liberal nomination meeting at Pembroke and Mr. MacDonald was at his home in Toronto.

Present standing in the 90-seat legislature is: Progressive Conservative 78, Liberal 6, CCF 2, Liberal-Labor 1, Labor-Progressive Communist 1 and two vacant. Redistribution, effective for the election, will raise the number of seats to 98.

The last provincial election was in November, 1951.

End of a Soviet Revolution

Mr. Lysenko brought with him some startling inventions in agricultural technique and theory.

By his thesis, in rough outline, characteristics developed by environmental conditions could be transmitted to progeny. He didn't say that the children of coal miners would be born with black faces and black hands, but that might serve as the extreme if ridiculous exaggeration of the theory he propounded.

In effect it rejected the well-authenticated theories of western science and sought to establish a completely different school of genetics.

Mr. Lysenko's views might have remained only the opinion of a dissenter had it not been for the fact that Stalin supported him, raised him to eminence in his field and caused his teachings to be imposed on the whole country. Westerners objected, seeing the imposition in the light of a violation of scientific principles. But from the agricultural cause celebre, Lysenko emerged victorious on the Russian scene.

That is history. It is brought up to date in a report by Russian-speaking Dr. P. S. Hudson, director of the Bureau of Plant Breeding and Genetics in the School of Agriculture at Cambridge University.

Dr. Hudson visited the U.S.S.R. some months ago to attend an agricultural exhibition. He made his own investigations, used his own skilled eyes and asked questions. He found another startling development in the Lysenko theory. It has disappeared. Russian agriculture no longer talks about Lysenko. It refers only to a contemporary whose theories were interwoven and integrated into the Lysenko school—a scientist called I. V. Michurin.

When Soviet agriculturists seek an authority now, it is Michurin. But here again Dr. Hudson found an interesting development.

Writing in The New Republic, the Cambridge expert states:

"The general impression gained from all these talks (with Russians) was that by dropping the word Lysenko and retaining the word Michurin, the official policy has made it possible to retreat from the extreme Lysenko standpoint, which has been disproved in many respects and has largely failed in practice. Under the name Michurinism it is possible to accommodate a wide assortment of different principles, since Michurin is dead and cannot answer back and say that is not what he meant at all. What is understood by Michurinism today is probably different for every single individual, but for a great number at least the concepts are not widely different, in essence, if not in name, from what Western geneticists think; and in the practical application of these concepts the difference seems to be even narrower."

If the ghost of the Abbott J. G. Mendel has stirred uneasily, it may rest quietly now.

Strong Case for Prescribed Drugs

WHILE THE VARIETY OF opinion expressed in testimony to the special Senate committee on narcotics, which recently sat in Vancouver, may add to that body's confusion, one point seems clear.

None of the experts giving evidence endorsed present methods of handling the narcotic drugs evil. The existing system is patently a failure.

Some weight must be attached to the arguments for distribution of required doses to addicts. In this way, it is argued, the profit can be removed from the traffic, at least in so far as minimum supplies are concerned.

Dr. Lawrence Ranta, director of Vancouver General Hospital and chairman of the health division of the Community Chest and Council speaks with authority when he says "drug trafficking could be reduced if doctors could prescribe narcotics for addicts. Narcotics trafficking is perhaps the only business which guarantees profits of some 4,000 per cent."

It's Everybody's Celebration

THREE WEEKS HENCE THIS city will be embarked again on its own particular carnival—the Victoria Day celebrations.

Several changes have been made in the program this year and some of the traditional events will be dropped. But the central attraction, the big parade, will be continued and expanded. The popularity of the procession has been emphasized in recent years. In 1954, an estimated 50,000 people saw the floats and other entries.

The committee in charge of the event looks to an even more outstanding presentation this year. To assure its increased success they are suggesting to Victorians—individuals, business concerns and organizations —that they show their civic spirit by participating. Everyone likes a parade, but its standard depends on the entries.

This year, the committees report, the feature will be good. It can be made superlative if enough people get to work and make it so.

And the air of festivity can be greatly increased if the citizens and merchants co-operate not only by entering different classes, but by decorating their homes and business establishments. The Lions Club, which is giving special attention to decorations, urges Victorians to remember that the celebrations belong to them. The festivities will be just as good as we make them—the more who take part, the better they will be.

Why Pick This Pocket?

A SERIOUS DEVELOPMENT affecting the male population is revealed in a fashion note predicting the disappearance of the breast pocket in suit coat or jacket.

The breast pocket has enjoyed a preferred position among pockets, it has been in the nature of an elite among the more utilitarian repositories in trousers or coat. With its carefully folded, almost never-used handkerchief it provided almost the only bit of show and front, the only trace of elegance in connection with men's suits.

Occasionally it holds a pipe or cigars, but these themselves are luxury items and preserve the diletante air.

There are, however, other uses that will make the breast pocket sorely missed if the tailors' new patterns are accepted. There is no handier place to pop a bus transfer, a theatre stub or a dry cleaner's coupon than the breast pocket. Safe from the heavier traffic of wallet, cash, service handkerchief and other miscellany, the breast pocket preserves tickets ready for instant use which would be quickly lost in the hurlyburly of the hip or inside coat pocket.

And finally, being infrequently employed, it has another advantage of considerable importance. For it is in the breast pocket—emptied in readiness for a visit to the cleaners—that you may on occasion find treasure trove: a dollar bill tucked temporarily away and forgotten, a phone number you had given up hope of recovering, a dentist's appointment card long overdue and happily unusable—the list and possibilities are endless.

Even the stern dictates of fashion should not deprive man of this boon. We may expect a determined effort to defeat the tailors.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

HAPPY May Day, boys and girls. One day late, but I don't care, because not one single aspect of May Day has the power to charm me or scare me or interest me. Except this: last week I discovered why MAYDAY is the spoken code-word (over radio telephone) for SOS. It has nothing to do with "I'm to be Queen of the May, mother, help, help." Nothing to do with hawthorn branches or big parades and solidarity. Or daylight saving time, or putting tropical warriors into Boy Scout pants, or any other phenomenon of the season that might be in pretty sore straits. Nope. It is just a more or less phonetic spelling of the French "MAIDER," meaning "help me."

ST. NICHOLAS

THE other day I had a letter from a sailor. In a far-off corner of the world (if such places exist now) he had just seen the movie of "The Cruel Sea." He said: "The film, though an improvement on the book, embarrassed me. I just dunno how actors (whatever their personal record) can mime those whose shoulders held the sky suspended. Ah well, maybe I'm over-sensitive."

The phrase about shoulders is, of course, from Housman's Epitaph on an Army of Mercenaries:

These, in the day when heaven was falling,
The hour when earth's foundations fled,
Followed their mercenary calling,
And took their wages and are dead.

Their shoulders held the sky suspended;
They stood and earth's foundations stay;
What God abandoned, these defended,
And saved the sum of things for pay.

Incidentally, you may care to be reminded of his other poem on the same theme. A poem that is perhaps lesser and yet quite as moving. "Perhaps more moving, in some ways, if a comparison and a competition is really necessary:

Here dead lie we because we did not choose
To live and shame the land from which we sprung.
Life, to be sure, is nothing much to lose;
But young men think it is, and we were young.

READING

THE other night I was feeling dispirited. I felt ashamed of feeling so gloomy, and this only had the effect of making me all the gloomier. Anyhow, in my dissatisfaction with myself and with everything else, I happened to pronounce a curse on books and said I would never read another. This stubborn resolve must have startled my companion, who knows me quite well. He didn't betray any shock, but I could see signs of amusement.

Well, when I got home I had to have something to read, as a kind of nightcap, just to taper off before I quit reading and went on the wagon. And what I picked up was an essay on reading by Marcel Proust. I must have been tired, so instead of starting at the end and reading backwards through the essay, as is my usual custom, I started in the middle. It made me jump, because here he was taking a crack at another chap who also alternated between high spirits and sadness. He was talking about Gautier: "His bragging gaiety and his fits of depression we feel to be, in his case, the rather untidy habits of a journalist." Oh dear, oh dear. I was grateful for "in his case." Maybe he didn't mean me. And he went on "But we forgive him all that." I hope so.

I THEN read this: "If the taste for books grows with the intellect, its dangers, as we have seen, diminish with it. An original mind knows how to subordinate reading to its personal activity." Hooley. "For it, reading is more than the noblest of distractions, the most ennobling above all, for reading and knowledge alone give the 'good manners' of the mind." Monsieur Proust, as one well-mannered mind to another, permit me to raise my little round wickerwork hat to you, sir.

He went on: "The power of our sensibility and our intellect we can only develop in ourselves, in the depths of our spiritual life. But it is in this contact with our minds, which is reading, that the education of the 'ways' of the mind comes about. The lettered remain, in spite of all, the aristocracy of the intellect, and to ignore a particular book, or a particular item, of literary science will always remain, even in a man of genius, a mark of intellectual vulgarity. Distinction and nobility consist in the order of thought as well, in a kind of freemasonry of customs and in a heritage of traditions."

BY this time all thoughts of going on the wagon had been abandoned. I felt like the guest of honor in the bar of a sort of literary House of Lords. To the astonishment of my invisible hosts, I hopped over the bar and helped the barman to open the champagne a bit quicker. One more book for the road, boys. We'll cling together like the ivy on the old garden wall. I never knew we old aristocrats of the mind could have so much fun. Our gaiety is well-nigh journalistic, but we don't care. We can unbend.

FEUDAL FREEDOM

Mr. Harman, the last owner of Lundy (in the Bristol Channel), was governor and justice. Apparently the island, though it is under the British Crown, is still independent in many respects. For instance, Lundy Islanders pay no taxes. There is no tithe there, and the Church of England can only land a priest with the owner's consent. The one public house is open to anyone who wants a drink—I have never known it closed. And the 12 inhabitants are exempt from all those innumerable restrictions which we call freedom on the mainland. It's a feudal state with an aristocratic ruler.

All of a Zither

As Our Readers See It

TO LIVE WHERE THEY CHOOSE

We like to think that our country is governed on democratic principles, in most things.

Our faith is justified in the majority of cases, but there is a matter on which we do not apply democratic principles. I allude to the distinction between pensioners of the judiciary, high ranking pensioners of the armed services, and civil servants on the one hand and old aged pensioners (with their miserable pittance) on the other, as concerning the right to live where they choose and still receive their pensions.

The former, during the tenure of their office, have been in receipt of comparatively high salaries (with, in some cases, many substantial emoluments) which enabled them to live in comfort and enjoy a feeling of security; whereas the latter, or a large majority of them, have found it hard to make ends meet on what they earned.

Comparatively few OAPs would find it possible to avail themselves of the privilege of living out of the country, but those who are able should not be debarred. I believe I am correct in stating there is no government regulation preventing the more privileged pensioner (above-mentioned) from living where he chooses. Is it democratic or just to discriminate against the OAP?

We should bear in mind that ours is a rigorous climate, and a hard one on elderly people with slender means. If they can live more comfortably elsewhere, surely we should enable them to do so for the few years the majority still have to receive pensions.

PLUMMETING MUSIC

Christianity is debarred from advancing one inch along the spiritual road, so long as cruelty is deliberately instigated for a political purpose.

Mr. Beebe of the Archives, with his falcons, indicated (Times) "the plummeting falcon on the quarry is music to his ears."

I suppose he means the cries of the little bird when pounced upon. "It's the most exciting form of recreation there is," says Mr. Beebe, "and has a growing number of adherents in the United States and Canada."

As to this politically instigated savagery, may one ask, how much does the Provincial Archives cost the taxpayers?

EINSTEIN'S BELIEF

Although "In Memoriam—Dr. Albert Einstein," was evidently written in good faith and with deep feeling for this kindly, scientist, the writer, A. Student, can not have made a very deep study of Einstein's beliefs.

Your correspondent concludes "when such men pass . . . and into God return, ambition humbled, future life serene." If Dr. Einstein's body had not been cremated it would most likely have turned over in the grave. For he was not a Christian, nor even a Theist or Deist, although he was sympathetic to pantheism. In his work, "The World as I See It," Dr. Einstein wrote, "An individual who should survive his physical death is beyond my comprehension, nor do I wish it otherwise; such notions are for the fears or absurd egotism of feeble souls."

CHICKENS' LIVERS

Having read the letters and heard the statements made by certain people regarding chickens' livers being diseased I am wondering if they are trying to kill the poultry business in B.C.

It is of no use warning housewives not to buy chickens with diseased livers because there is no means of seeing the liver until the bird is killed and drawn and this is not done until after the purchase.

I have always understood that poultry farms are most rigidly inspected and that diseased birds are not allowed to be put on the market. Why does our worthy lady MLA not see that diseased birds are not sold to the public? It was she who brought the diseased livers of chickens into the limelight.

I am still going to buy and enjoy a nice roast chicken with all the trimmings and not dwell too much on its liver.

SHALL MEMBERS HAVE VOICE?

I share with Mr. David McCloy his admiration for the late Ernie Carson, but cannot agree with his opinions otherwise.

If Mr. McCloy were to read in full the brief recently released by the B.C. Conservative Association and I have reason to believe he now has) he would realize the present unrest in Conservative ranks dates from prior to the time Mr. Anscomb took the leadership of the party in B.C.

If Mr. Anscomb had had the same support from some other quarters within the party that he enjoyed from Mr. Carson undoubtedly he would be Premier of B.C. today.

In his attempt to diagnose the situation Mr. McCloy has (unwittingly I presume) resorted to personalities whereas the whole question before the party is:

Whether or not the membership who form and support the Conservative Association are to have a voice in the affairs of the party.

Warning From Japan

By JOSEPH ALSOP,
From Tokyo.

IN the past month, things have been happening in Tokyo that ought to have alarmed even the most complacent and self-satisfied American policy-makers. The theme of the drama has been a Japanese-American negotiation about the scope of Japan's "self-defense" program and the size of the "defense contribution" Japan pays the United States for its present forces. At one stage in this drama, tension reached such a point that the Foreign Minister, Mamoru Shigemitsu, attempted to fly to Washington on twenty-four hours' notice to seek a new basis of agreement. When Secretary of State John Foster Dulles refused this abrupt visitation, Shigemitsu was publicly humiliated.

At another stage, the most powerful figure among Japanese conservatives, Finance Minister Hideo Ichimada, declared he would resign his post rather than present a Japanese budget drawn up in conformity with American ideas.

Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama was forced to warn U.S. Ambassador John Allison that Ichimada's resignation would bring down the Cabinet and precipitate the ugliest kind of political crisis in Tokyo. On Allison's frantic plea, Washington's position on Japanese defense policy was then somewhat modified. In this manner, the Hatoyama Cabinet was finally enabled to agree on an annual budget for presentation to the Diet.

STORMY DEBATE

As these words are written, however, everyone is forecasting that the budget debate in the Diet will be extremely stormy. Above all, the Diet is expected to ring with furious charges of American intervention in Japanese internal politics and policy-making. And unfortunately these charges will be hard to answer.

Such are the results, such is the really appalling aftermath, of the bargain struck by Secretary of State Dulles when he negotiated the Japanese peace treaty and the linked understandings concerning defense problems.

The Dulles bargain was hailed at the time as a brilliant feat. But events have proved that it had two vices, which really should have been discerned at the time by simple, common foresight.

Vice number one was to convince the Japanese that their own defense program was something imposed by America and designed principally to serve American interests. The rule that a national effort must grow up from the nation that makes the effort was lamentably ignored by Secretary Dulles. Japanese divisions were needed to make pretty patterns in the paper games played by the American Chiefs of Staff. That need, essentially a need of American domestic politics, was given first consideration.

Thus today, the much touted Japanese defense effort is still basically a phony. More than 100,000 men are now in training in the self-defense force. But with great numbers of Japanese, including many Japanese conservatives, the program is bitterly unpopular.

VALUE QUESTIONED

Because the defense effort does not truly represent the Japanese national will, because it is regarded as something done at America's behest, the value of the new Japanese defense force is at least highly questionable.

The second vice of the Dulles bargain greatly inflames the effects of the first vice. America has not only been entangled in Japanese defense planning. Because of the so-called "defense contribution," America is also automatically entangled, each year, in the process of preparing the Japanese annual budget.

Maybe it looked like good business, to provide that the Japanese would pay the United States $150,000,000 a year for helping to defend Japan. Maybe it seemed a good way to spur the Japanese to build their own defense force, and so escape the burden of this "contribution."

But the sum involved, while a drop in America's fiscal ocean, is a very large sum indeed in the eyes of Hideo Ichimada and his hard pressed budget makers. And because of this annual payment, the kind of Japanese-American drama that has just taken place here inevitably occurs whenever Japanese budget making begins.

The Dulles bargain provides, in short, for an annual, automatic, unavoidable row between America and America's most important ally on this side of the Pacific.

To date, to be sure, the results have been just bad, not fatal. Anti-Americanism has been greatly encouraged. The Japanese have been given an excellent excuse for not thinking independently and realistically about their own national problems. But there has been no breach between America and Japan.

MELANCHOLY CONTRAST

On the other hand, the present American policy line on Japanese defense and related problems plays directly into the hands of the astute Chinese Communist diplomats who are working overtime to promote an eventual Japanese-American breach. It is melancholy to contrast American clumsiness with Chinese Communist adroitness.

On the vital China trade issue, for example, the American line seems to have been carefully calculated to infuriate the Japanese, having the same look of heavy-handed intervention in Japanese affairs as our line on defense.

The Chinese are taking brilliant advantage of this. While British and other Western trade negotiators are not asked in Peking to deliver embargoed goods, the Communist trade mission now in Japan is asking for almost nothing except embargoed goods. The idea is being implanted with great skill that only American obstinacy stands between Japan's struggling exporters and great profits in trade with China.

All of which leads to the conclusion which, it is authoritatively understood, has already been presented to Washington by the Embassy here. In brief, it is high time for a radical re-examination of U.S. policies in Japan and U.S. relationship with Japan.

Pope Reclaims May Day From Communists

May 1 Dedicated To Workers' Saint

VATICAN CITY (UP)—

Pope Pius XII proclaimed May Day the feast day of St. Joseph the Workman in a speech Sunday to 300,000 workers and pilgrims in St. Peter's Square.

The Pope's announcement, made at the most impressive Vatican ceremony of the year, stole the spotlight from Communists who had long claimed May Day for themselves.

He warned the workers against "discordant and alluring voices directed at you from different quarters, some to ensnare your souls, some to debase you as men, or to defraud you of your legitimate rights as workers."

MONSTROUS LIE

And he said it was a "monstrous lie... that the 'church' is allied with capitalism against labor."

The Pontiff spoke of the "duty and obligation" of the church to guide, protect and love the suffering and added: "Acclaimed in this way by Christian workers and having received, as it were, Christian baptism, the first of May, far from being a stimulus for discord, hate and violence, is and will be a recurring invitation to modern society to accomplish that which is still lacking for social peace."

LABOR IDEALS

"A Christian feast, therefore, that is, a day of rejoicing for the concrete and progressive triumph of the Christian ideals of the great family of labor."

"In order that this meaning may remain in your minds and that, in a certain manner, we make an immediate return for the numerous and precious gifts brought to us from all parts of Italy, we are happy to announce to you our determination to institute—as we do in fact now institute—the liturgical feast of St. Joseph the Workman, assigning to it precisely the first day of May..."

GESTURE TO WOMEN

Khrushchev's Gallantry Highlights Russ May Day

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev enlivened Sunday's May Day celebration, otherwise inhibited by a drenching rain, by unexpectedly summoning an attractive woman party official to the reviewing stand atop the Lenin-Stalin tomb.

Khrushchev stole the show with his spectacular by-play as Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the new defense minister, made the featured May Day speech.

Dressed in a raincoat and bright green felt hat, the party boss beckoned down into the crowd. The attention of thousands in the square was on him since nothing like this had ever been seen in Red Square.

SUMMONED TO TOMB

Ekaterina Alexeevna Fulsova, secretary of the Moscow oblast (region) of the Communist party, was standing below in front of the diplomats' stand. She apparently saw Khrushchev motioning to her and started toward the tomb.

As she passed through guards in their snappy new blue and gold uniforms, worn publicly for the first time today, Khrushchev walked down the steps from the reviewing stand and escorted her.

Diplomats theorized Miss Fulsova is one of the highest ranking women in the party and that Khrushchev's gesture was sure to appeal to Soviet women. He is first secretary of the party's central committee.

Canadian Girl Wins

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (CP)—A 16-year-old Canadian girl Saturday won the women's all-round title in the American Athletic Union gymnastic championship.

Ernestine Russell of Windsor, Ont., Canadian woman gymnastic champion, won all four events in the all-round competition, an AAU record.

Campbell Beaten

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Twenty-year-old Don Bispling-off of Orlando, Fla., trimmed Walker Cup team captain Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., 5 and 4 Saturday to win the North and South golf tournament in his first attempt.

The 'Babe' Wins

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—Babe Zaharias, the veteran from Tampa, Fla., posted a 76 Sunday to win the third annual $5,000 Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls women's golf tournament with a 72-hole score of 293, nine over par.

Marilyn Smith, who went into Sunday's final round tied with Mrs. Zaharias at 217, led the Babe by two strokes at the turn. But Mrs. Zaharias pulled even on the 16th and parred the last two holes, while Miss Smith took one over par on each hole.

Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Tex., was third at 297.

Boston Dogs Beaten

NEW YORK (AP)—Boston Dogs ran out of speed and victories simultaneously Saturday. Paul Andolino's three-year-old colt, seeking his 11th straight win, finished a badly beaten third in the fifth running of the $25,500 Swift Stakes at Belmont Park.

Boston Dogs trailed Hilton A. Ransom's Nance Lad and Mrs. Ellsworth H. Augustus' Inform to the finish line of the seven-furlong stake, run in 1:24 2/5.

Moore Meets Valdes

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Veteran Archie Moore, the world light heavyweight champion, and Nino Valdes of Cuba, the No. 2 challenger for the heavyweight title, put their reputations on the block tonight in a 15-round fight.

Driver Killed

LANGHORNE, Pa. (AP)—Mike Nazark, 32, of North Bellmore, N.Y., was killed Sunday after setting a six-mile world record with a clocking of 3:22.36 in a 30-mile sprint car race at the Langhorne speedway.

Nazark was leading the field until his car rammed a fence in the 17th lap.

Gorge Vale Golf

Norm Hogan and D. Albany won joint ownership of the Maynard Cup Sunday at Gorge Vale Golf Club when they fired identical net 68s.

Runner-up with 70 was N. Galbraith. Norm Boden won the low gross with 78.

Nancy Craig Defeated

Nancy Craig of Victoria, defending B.C. women's table tennis champion, lost her title in Vancouver Saturday night in the 1955 B.C. championships.

Mrs. Craig was defeated in the women's final by Vancouver's Dawn Baker, 21-12, 21-17, 21-15.

Island Grid Clubs Affiliate With WIFU

SASKATOON (CP)—The junior section of the Western Interprovincial Football Union will be expanded to include four clubs from Vancouver Island.

Ralph Peterson of Victoria told Sunday's meeting of the WIFU junior committee that the new teams will run off their own league schedule and then play the winner of Vancouver's big four circuit for the British Columbia title.

The entries increase western junior clubs to 16, half of them in B.C. There are four in Alberta and two each in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

The American League champion Cleveland Indians were back in the fabulous place today and who do you think put them there?

Bob Lemon, Early Wynn; Mike Garcia? No, none of the fabulous big three had anything to do with it.

The 26-year-old Bob Feller, who wasn't even trusted to pitch in the world series last fall, and 21-year-old Herbie Score, who didn't join the Indians until this spring.

The grizzled veteran and the fuzzy faced rookie put two brilliant pitching exhibitions back to back as the Indians twice conquered the Boston Red Sox, 2-0 and 2-1 to forge into a half-game lead over the rest of the field.

THREE NO-HITTERS

Feller, only pitcher since 1900 to turn in three no-hitters, came within eight putouts of becoming the only pitcher to get his fourth as he won his first game of the season and 263rd of his career in the opener. The former fireballer permitted only one hit—a one-out seventh-inning single by Sammy White—to mark the 12th time in his 16-year career that he wound up with a no-hitter.

Score came within two of Bob's mark, striking out 16 in the second game.

Three teams—New York, Detroit and Chicago—found themselves in a second place tie, a half game behind Cleveland. The Yankees snapped Detroit's seven-game winning streak with a 6-1 triumph and Baltimore held the White Sox even in a doubleheader.

The Orioles took the opener 9-8 in 11 innings and the White Sox won the second game 6-3.

Kansas City's surprising Athletics moved into fifth place, past the Red Sox, taking a 16-10 slugfest from Washington with a six-run seventh inning. Jim Finigan paced a 16-hit attack with a double and triple, scored four times and drove in three runs.

CARDS SECOND

Brooklyn's jet-propelled Dodgers made it 15 victories in 17 starts, defeating Milwaukee Braves 5-4 on pinch-hitter George Shuba's run-scoring single in eighth. St. Louis Cardinals were held to a split in their doubleheader with Pittsburgh but took over second place by percentage points from Milwaukee.

The Cards won the opener 4-3 but lost the second 7-0 as Ronnie Kline made his first major league victory a shutout.

The New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds picked the 35th anniversary of the longest game in major league history to play 16 innings before Johnny Antonelli beat the Redlegs 2-1 with a dazzling six-hitter.

IRELAND WINS

DUBLIN (AP)—Ireland defeated Holland 1-0 Sunday in an international soccer match when Jack Fitzgerald, Irish centre forward, scored after 26 minutes of the second half.

City's Minor Booters Lose in Title Bids

All four Vancouver Island teams in the soccer Tournament of Champions at Vancouver Colliester Park over the week-end failed in their bids to capture provincial titles.

On Saturday, Division 1 Eagles were edged by Powell River Papermakers, 3-2, while Vancouver Futurity Falcons blanked Eagles in the Division 3 final, 7-0.

On Sunday, Eagles were again shut out, Powell River United coming up with a 2-0 win in the Division 4 final. Cumberland Kinsmen were walloped 11-0 by the top team in the tourney, Vancouver United Steelworkers, in the Division 2 playoff.

In the Division 1 playoff, Jim Stewart for Eagles and Les Adams for Powell River made the half-time score read 1-1. Adams again and Andy Creighton put the Papermakers into a 3-1 lead after the intermission before Eagles scored the final goal.

Falcons had no trouble in disposing of the Victoria team in the Division 3 final, leading 3-0 at the half.

Frank Virkirt booted two goals to give Powell River United its margin over Eagles in the Sunday encounter.

Combines Capture Soccer Title

Second-half champion Combines defeated Eagles, first half winners, 6-3, Saturday at Hollywood Park to capture the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association Division Five championship.

Combines jumped to a 5-2 lead at half-time and split two goals with the Eagles in the final period. Gary Fletcher paced the winners with three goals, with Joe Stebeck scoring twice and Jack Kirk once.

Hal Piton, Jim Nelmes and Bruce Pollard scored for Eagles.

Farmers Win Pair

Farmer Construction of the Lower Island Senior Amateur Baseball League scored a pair of exhibition victories over Duncan Athletic Sunday at Duncan.

Farmers won the opener, 16-1, behind Art Worth's two-hit pitching and took the second game, 10-2, with Lowell Hodges and Paul Beck splitting the mound chores.

In addition to his pitching, Worth picked up a triple and three singles in the first game with Jim Harford hitting a home run.

HOLLYWOOD—Kenny Davis, 130, Los Angeles, outpointed Augie Villa, 131, Oakland (16).

VACCINE RACKETEERING REPORTED IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL (BUP) — Police and health authorities enlisted parents' help today in a search for "vicious racketeers" who have been telephoning with offers of three shots of the Salk anti-polio vaccine for $20.

A number of parents of children who because of their ages will be unable to get free shots of the vaccine this year reported they had been called by men who represented themselves as salesmen.

City health officials said the operators scared their intended victims with unfounded statements that polio was expected to be widespread this year. They then told the parents they could buy the vaccine for $20 for three shots.

HOME GARDEN By HILDA BEASTALL

Biennials Seen as Boon To Small or New Garden

It is in spring and early summer that the owner of a small or new garden may be thankful for biennials. Briefly, these are plants which grow from seed one year, and flower and die the next.

The most widely grown biennial in this area is probably the wallflower, Cheiranthus cheiri. Another indispensable is forget-me-not, Myosotis, in both pink and blue.

Also biennial and improved recently is the foxglove, digitalis, the new Excelsior strain having the flowers placed all around the spike. Brompton stock is another useful biennial flowering in spring.

Canterbury bell is a well loved, old fashioned plant which creates a magnificent garden display, and for early June weddings I know of nothing more beautiful for mass decoration in church or home. The perfect bells in pastel shades of pink and blue, as well as pure white, are delightfully appropriate. The cup-and-saucer type will be found in catalogues under Campanula calyculata medium.

The seed of all these biennials may be sown about the middle of May, either in a prepared bed outside or in boxes in a cold frame. Transplanting will improve the quality of the plants, with the move into flowering positions being made at the time our fall rains begin.

Keeping the small plants supplied with moisture during the summer is a necessity, and they should have a good compact root system by the time of the final move.

After flowering, the plants are removed to the compost heap. Biennials are not worth keeping for the few blooms of a second season.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Victoria Aged Pensioners' Association meets Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Britannia branch Legion. A movie has been arranged for 12.45 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Bert Lyons will demonstrate "The Art of Flower Arranging" tonight at 8 p.m. at Gordon Head Garden Club meeting in the community hall.

Guest will be Mrs. Charles Seefield, Seattle, who was recently judge at Tacoma Daffodil Show and Kirkland Primrose Show. She is an accredited judge of shows for the Council of State Garden Clubs in Washington.

Patients at the Provincial Mental Home were entertained by George Harrison's "Versatiles" in a concert party Friday night. The group has been popular in hospitals and institutions of Greater Victoria for the past 12 months. Next Friday they will hold a concert in Esquimalt Legion Hall in aid of Esquimalt Scout troop's plans to build a new Boy Scout hall. Curtain rises at 8 p.m.

City council voted last week to boost charges for water connection to new constructions after advice from the city engineer that present costs for a connection were 137 per cent of the charges made under a 1951 schedule.

Depending on the size of the connection required, charges have risen from 10 to 40 per cent.

Where it cost $35 last year to hook up a 1/2-inch water connection, it will soon cost $50. A two-inch connection now will cost $150 and an eight-inch join, $450.

SCHOOL HAS BIG JOB

'Free Ride' Pupils Must Go--Williston

VANCOUVER (CP)—Education Minister Ray Williston today does it with a $30,000 machine.

He urged adults to practice what they preach.

"We all learn by example," he said. "You can't fool young people today. The adult who says they should do something the way he says to do it, and then does it another way is setting a bad example by his actions."

"The community has many teachers. The student doesn't get a well-rounded education if the church, home and other social contacts don't provide good leadership."

In later discussions, R. V. Robinson, a delegate of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said "things are made to easy for school students" and advocated two years' compulsory military training to teach them discipline before being turned into the labor market.

D. B. MacKenzie of the Vancouver school board, commenting on Mr. Williston's plea for training of the individual, asked: "How can we develop leaders and develop individual character in our large, overcrowded classes?"

He said his group backed the "need for reduction of size of classes."

North Van Pair Fined For Strip-Tease Act

VANCOUVER (CP)—A clothing store operator and a housewife were fined in North Vancouver police court Friday for their part in an April 1 strip-tease show at Canadian Legion branch 114.

Harvey Sinder was fined $175 for publicly exhibiting an indecent show and Mrs. Louise Milliken $75 for committing an indecent act. Both pleaded guilty.

SOLOISTS OUTSTANDING

British Music Concert Hailed As 'Vigorous and Full-Bodied'

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
A vigorous, full-bodied display of choral and orchestral forces was the dominant impression created Saturday night when Graham Steed led the Victoria Choral Society and members of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra in a concert of British music.

The well-attended event, which took place in Central Junior High School auditorium, was also distinguished by the performances of three outstanding soloists.

In a cycle of five songs by Sir Edward Elgar, composed for contralto and orchestra, Eleanor Duff's remarkably effortless and beautiful voice was revealed in all its perfection of production; its smooth and supple resonance. Aside from outstanding musical and vocal gifts, Miss Duff exemplifies the finest technical attainment.

Imagination, some vivid tone painting and mood projection is revealed in these "Sea Pictures," the contrast between the gentle nostalgia of "Sabbath Morning at Sea," romanticism of "Where Corals Lie," and dramatic effect of "The Swimmer," was fully realized by the singer.

FEATURED SOLOISTS

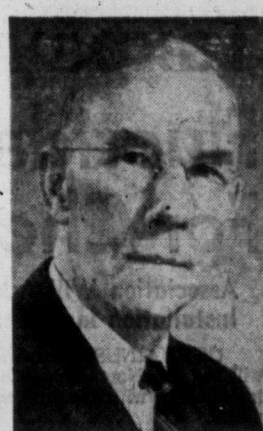

Peggy Packard, well-known Victoria soprano, and Karl Norman, tenor, of Vancouver, were featured soloists in the opening work by Ralph Vaughan Williams—"Dona Nobis Pacem."

The pure, lovely timbre of Mrs. Packard's rich soprano voice in solo passages marked this performance with some brief but golden moments. Karl Norman's solo work was stirring and it was difficult to believe that the robust, full voice was produced by a larynx that a very few years ago was paralyzed by polio.

Both in the "Dona Nobis" and in "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," in which he sang most effectively, the lyrical "Onaway! Awake, beloved!", his artistry was outstanding.

But by far the major portion of the Vaughan Williams and Coleridge Taylor compositions was choral, and as led by Mr. Steed, the mixed voice choir sang with great vitality and conviction. Good attack, full tone and broad, sweeping climaxes were among the virtues their performance revealed.

Clifford Evans was concert master. Brass, much to the fore in "Dona Nobis," was exceptionally good.

242 FEET—ON A BET

TV Tower-Climber Takes CBWT Off Air

WINNIPEG (CP)—Thousands of southern Manitoba television viewers missed part of their favorite Saturday night program as CBC station CBWT went off the air for 45 minutes while a daredevil soft drink salesman was coaxed off the top of the station's 242-foot television broadcasting tower in downtown Winnipeg.

Norman Fennell of suburban Fort Garry, about 35, climbed the tower on a $5 bet taken earlier in a bottlelegger's. Once he reached the top of the spiny antenna he froze with fear and refused to come down.

Finally 25-year-old George Smith of St. Paul, Minn., a former stepladder in town for the week-end, scaled the tower and talked Fennell into leaving his lofty perch.

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Police immediately took Fennell into custody. He was due to appear in police court today.

The station—the only one in Winnipeg—had just begun to broadcast the Jackie Gleason Show when Fennell climbed over the roof of an adjoining building at the intersection of Portage Avenue and Young Street and began his long climb. He was more than half way up before anyone saw him.

Informed by an unidentified caller at 8:18 p.m., police and firemen raced to the CBC studios. Within minutes a crowd of more than 2,000 persons swarmed over Portage Avenue, the city's main thoroughfare, to watch.

New School For 'Slow' Children

A private school for mentally retarded children will be started here soon by Oak Bay resident, Mrs. A. E. Raymond.

A graduate of Macdonald College School for Teachers, she is a member of the National Association for Retarded Children. She has taught at public schools and the University of New Brunswick Summer School.

The classes, which will be from nine to noon Monday to Friday, will be aimed at social adjustment with academic subjects geared to the understanding of the pupils. The youngsters will be grouped according to age, physical and mental development and previous training.

Interested persons should phone 3-0858 between 10 a.m. and noon any day of the week.

A. H. Plows, department of education, will be guest speaker at the inaugural meeting of a parents' group also being formed for benefit of handicapped children. He will speak to the Lower Vancouver Island Society for Handicapped Children at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Labor Hall, 715 Johnson.

STUDIO OFFICIALS DECIDED TO SHUT OFF THE STATION AS A PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE. THEY SAID FENNEL MIGHT HAVE BEEN KILLED IF HE HAD GROUND THE 10,000-WATT POWER OUTPUT.

Walter McLeod, a Winnipeg

stepladder, tried to coax Fennell down but he wouldn't listen to him. Finally Smith scrambled up the tower's circular catwalk at the 180-foot level and yelled at Fennell to come down. He refused and so Smith climbed to the top of the tower. Fennell at last decided to follow Smith down. The police were waiting for him. "Fennell had been drinking," said police inspector James Mulholland.

Nanaimo Marks Anniversary Of Mine Blast

NANAIMO — The flag over the historic bastion here will fly at half mast Tuesday to commemorate the worst coal mine disaster in the history of Vancouver Island 68 years ago.

Of the 155 men working in No. 1 Mine on the Esplanade, only seven survived after two tremendous explosions rocked Nanaimo and district at 5:55 p.m., May 3, 1887. The miners were trapped 650 yards underground from the air shaft, and died from carbon monoxide fumes. A fierce coal-fed fire, followed by the explosions, burned for four days despite the fact that thousands of gallons of water were pumped into the burning shaft.

Many descendants of the victims live in Nanaimo and district and May 3, for them, is still a day of mourning.

Mental Home Remains Top Chamber Job

NANAIMO (CP)—Newly installed president of Nanaimo and Island Chamber of Commerce, E. L. Hodson, said the mental home still remains the chamber's number one project for the current year.

Mr. Hodson said unconfirmed rumors that the government had chosen a site at Metchosin, 15 miles southwest of Victoria, would not alter the Nanaimo chamber's campaign to have the proposed $10,000,000 hospital built in the Nanaimo area.

Taxpayers Ask Fluoridation For Chemainus

Association Will Ask for Plant Installation in Water System

CHEMAINUS—Chemainus Ratepayers' Association will request North Cowichan Council to arrange for the installation, with the new water system, of a fluoridation plant.

A resolution to this effect was presented to the regular meeting of the association by George Beaulieu, who said that it had been shown that the addition of fluoride to the water supply "reduces the incidence of tooth decay and thereby raises the general standard of health."

Both Dr. R. N. Dick and Dr. George Bryant, dentist, spoke in favor of the plan.

It was a well-proven fact, Dr. Bryant said, that fluorine in the form of fluorides had the power to reduce dental caries in children. This was especially true for those who had its benefits all during the time when the enamel of their teeth was being formed, from earliest infancy to the teens.

Studies showed that from 1.0 parts per million, to 2.0 parts per million of fluorine in the water gave the greatest degree of resistance, and produced no undesirable mottling.

The medical and dental professions and all the leading public health associations in the United States and Canada endorsed fluoridation, he said.

Cost of installing a fluoridation plant for Chemainus would be approximately $3,000. Annual maintenance costs would be $1,000, or 60 cents per capita.

Former reeve A. E. Beasley pointed out that the installation of the fluoridation plant would have to be done under a local improvement plan, and that ratepayers would have to vote on the scheme. He felt sure they would vote in favor of the above.

Speaking on the proposal, G. B. Motherwell said that "for a nickel a month, its good insurance."

END OF ISOLATION

65-Car Cavalcade Drives New Road to Lake Camp

DUNCAN — A cavalcade of 65 cars drove from Honeycomb Bay to Caycuse Camp on Cowichan Lake Saturday afternoon to mark the opening of a nine-mile road between the two logging and lumbering centres.

The event marked the end of isolation for the residents at the camp, who until now have had to take a boat to Youbou if they wanted to leave the community.

The road was built by B.C. Forest Products, sole employer at Caycuse, for the benefit of residents and to enable children to travel by school bus to Honeycomb Bay and Lake Cowichan.

Taking part in the opening ceremony were Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, company president Hector Munro of Vancouver, and George Smythe, president of the IWA sub-local in the area, and second vice-president of IWA Local 1-80.

RECEPTION HELD

After the ceremony in the camp, when a ribbon across the road was cut by Mr. Smythe, a reception was held at the camp community hall with B.C. Forest Products as host.

The new road cuts through logged land on the south shore of the lake, providing scenic views of the lake throughout a large part of the route.

It incorporates two miles of government road, two miles of old logging grade, and five miles of new right of way built by the company.

Legion Planning Horseshoe Pitch

CHEMAINUS — A horseshoe pitch will be built by Canadian Legion Branch 191 at the rear of its building here.

Horseshoes have been donated to the branch by George Hemmingsen and W. McBeath. Sand will be supplied by H. Beggs and work on the pitch will be done by Harry Otto.

New members initiated at the regular monthly meeting were William Fyffe-Ron Francis, H. Olmschank and W. S. Spalding of Vancouver.

Flying Club Will Train Midshipmen

SIDNEY — Victoria Flying Club, with headquarters at Patricia Bay Airport, will start training midshipmen from HMCS Venture in September.

The course will give air experience to 67 men. It will be continued each year, but the number taking the course will be reduced to 50 in future.

The course, to be given by Flying Club instructors, will consist of 45 hours of ground instruction at Venture, in Victoria, and air training at the airport.

Until now the club has limited its outside training activity to air cadets.

Naval units at the airport include an Avenger squadron and reserve squadron.

Record Entries at Week-Long Jaycee Fair

Crowds will stream towards the fair tonight!

It's expected to be one of the biggest events, people-wise, Victoria has ever seen.

That's the Victoria Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition, which opens at 8.15 tonight in the Memorial Arena and Curling Rink. Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan will officiate at the opening ceremony of the week-long "ex" which has attracted exhibitors from as far away as Ontario.

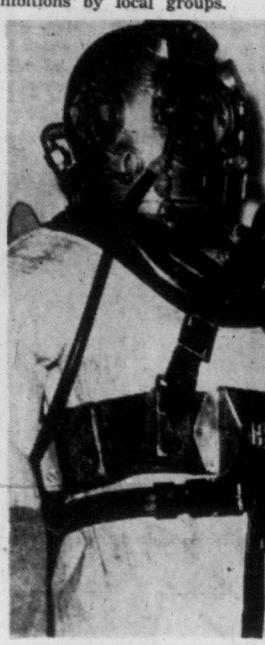

It's the ninth annual Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored enterprise of a similar nature, and the "bestest with the mostest" to date. A record of 125 exhibitors will be displaying their wares and services.

The show will be open from 2 to 11 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Weekly admission passes entitle the holder to a chance of winning many valuable prizes, including a new 1955 car.

Not the least of the attractions—which will include an aerial act, rides and assorted what-nots for the younger fry—will be the "Miss Victoria" contest. Ten contestants will display charms, two girls a night, with judging set for closing night.

Winner will be flown to London, Ont., expense paid, to compete in the "Miss Canada" contest there.

Square dancing to music by the Rodeo Rascals will be featured nightly in the Curling Rink, preceded by dancing exhibitions by local groups.

Ottawa 'Switch' On Works Plan Hit by Bennett

Abandonment of 1945 Proposals Unjustified by Economic Growth

Premier W. A. C. Bennett returned to his office today from the federal-provincial conference at Ottawa, and castigated the federal government for abandoning sweeping social services and public works proposals outlined in the Green Book of 1945.

The premier said the Canadian economy is stronger now than it was in 1945, and "if we could stand it then, we can stand it now."

The famous Green Book proposed a federal public investment program, national health insurance, and federal care of the able-bodied unemployed, among other things.

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced during last week's federal-provincial agenda conference, that Ottawa had no intention of repeating the Green Book offer to the provinces.

Premier Bennett returned to Victoria Sunday. He had been absent from the capital for about six weeks.

He said he doubted whether the Green Book proposals "were ever seriously considered by the Liberal government in Ottawa," and that in any event "it is not part of their policy today."

Prime Minister St. Laurent said that because of almost $2,000,000,000 annual defense costs, the federal government would be "embarrassed if it tried to bring in the program at this time."

The premier said the conference was a "success" for all of Canada, because the premiers "got down to brass tacks," but said he was amazed at Ottawa's abandonment of the Green Book.

Premier Bennett said he was pleased Ottawa was willing to share in the cost of providing financial aid for persons out of work through no fault of their own.

He said Labor Minister Milton Gregg told him this was due in part to B.C.'s proposals of last December, for a 40-40-20 split of the expenses incurred.

Premier Bennett said he had asked Ottawa "to start a public investment program to create work. Our main problem is to see there are jobs for these people."

DELAY ACCUSATION
The premier also accused the federal government of delaying negotiations leading to construction of the multi-million-dollar Mica Creek dam on the Columbia River.

He said Ottawa's interference caused "harm to the economy of the Kootenay area," and to the entire Canadian economy.

On the Kaiser dam, he said B.C.'s case, taken before the

Three Injured In Week-End Car Crashes

Three persons required hospital treatment following week-end traffic accidents.

Treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital after being involved in an accident at about 1.30 a.m. Sunday at Arnold and Fairfield, were Julio Leon, 19, 1730 Carick, and Douglas Perlette, 22, 2410 Wark.

Hospital authorities said 18 stitches were needed to close wounds to Leon's right ear. Perlette suffered lacerations to the scalp and face.

Police said an auto driven east on Fairfield Road by Lawrence E. Perlette, 2410 Wark, had collided with a BCE power pole.

Force of the collision snapped the pole. The car then rolled over on its left side. Damage was heavy.

Miss Elizabeth Davies, Shawinigan Lake, received lacerations to the face and leg abrasions when the car in which she was a passenger rolled over Saturday night at about 11.30 p.m. at the Trans-Canada Highway and Grange Road.

Driver of the car was identified by Saanich police as John C. W. Madden, Shawinigan Lake.

Councillors Unmoved By Casey-Turf Fight

Saanich councillors said today a controversy between Reeve Joseph Casey and Island Turf Club officials will not affect their decision to oppose the establishment of a race track on city-owned property at Beaver Lake.

A race track there is a "dead issue" as far as they are concerned.

The controversy between Reeve Casey and track promoters followed the release of a letter by W. J. Lochead, president of the Island Turf Club, last week. The letter said the Saanich reeve was the main supporter of the venture in its early stages.

NO ASSURANCE
Reeve Casey Saturday admitted discussing the project with club officials, but claimed he never gave them assurance he would support the track. He denied he had done "an about-face" in connection with the track.

(The letter to the Island Turf Club was used by Mayor Claude Harrison to defer a motion endorsing the Capital Region Planning Board's recommendations that the land be used for a park, instead of for a track and exhibition.)

Cls. Leslie Passmore, S. W. Brock and George Austin told the Times the reeve never informed council he was discussing the track with Island Turf officials.

"But whatever the reeve does in his own time is not the affair of the council," said Mr. Austin. "The main thing is that council has voted against the project."

Cir. S. W. Brock said it looked to him as if the Island Turf Club was using some aldermen to stop the city from endorsing the planning board's recommendations.

"The private consultations the reeve had with the track promoters have no bearing on the issue," said Cir. Passmore. "The question is that the planning board has recommended against the project."

Mr. Passmore pointed out councillors and aldermen decided at a recent inter-municipal meeting to submit the track issue to the planning board for a report on the project.

"I left the meeting with the understanding that both parties would accept the board's findings, regardless of personal views," he said. "Saanich has accepted the recommendations."

Truckers Hit By Oil Burner Permit Law
Seven Greater Victoria fuel truck drivers were fined $5 and $3.50 costs each in Colwood police court for supplying fuel to persons with unauthorized oil burners.

According to the Fire Marshal's Act, oil suppliers are not allowed to supply oil for any oil-burning installation that has no permit.

Fined were Wilson J. Irving, 2650 Forbes; Ray Bourke, 3275 Maple; Jack Robertson, 3250 Shelley; Elmer Peterson, 155 Croft; Roy Hunt, Box 1887, Burnside; Fred Henry, 118 Robertson; Clement G. Patterson, 344 St. James.

All pleaded guilty to violations committed during the last three months. Charges were laid by Langford Fire Department, and a representative of the Fire Marshal's office in Vancouver was in attendance.

Two of the men, Henry and Hunt, pleaded guilty Saturday to similar violations committed in the Colwood area.

In honor of National Good Posture Week, this space is today being turned over to the tallest, thinnest, stoopdest man in the office. As follows:

We concave-chested stoop-shouldered chaps have at last been deemed worthy of recognition.

In the past dogs, cats, teeth and forest fires all had a national week. And now it's the turn of we poor punks who really need it.

The Canadian Chiropractic Association has announced a Correct Posture Week starting today.

A chiropractor is a man who believes that the spinal column must be in normal alignment so that nerve energy can flow freely between the brain and various parts of the body.

If just one vertebra gets out of place, the flow is interrupted and the nerve gets all bottled up in the brain, "with resultant loss of vigor."

Then, in all probability, dreadful things like twitching eyelids may occur.

This spinal column business seems so important it's a wonder we've managed to be a successful slouch all these years without any back-bone at all.

My father was the first to notice it. "You've got no back-bone" he remarked.

Since then I've had the doctor's own time dragging myself by hand along the street. Gloves wear out so quickly and they're expensive.

Although my brain didn't seem to be teeming with bottled-up nerve energy, as the chiropractors say, there was a distinct loss of vigor.

It was getting more difficult every day to get out of bed at noon and phone the office that I couldn't make it.

I would have done something about this, long ago but whenever I ask for advice people keep telling me to "throw out your chest."

This seems ridiculous. What little there is, I intend to keep.

Daily Distance Training Swims Thomas' Plan

Fresh from a two hours and 37 minutes exhibition frolic covering 4.4 miles between McNeill Bay and Ogden Point break-water Sunday afternoon, Tacomah Bert Thomas plans to swim a similar distance every day this week except Saturday.

A week from Thursday he will make his second attempt to swim 18.5 miles from Victoria to Port Angeles.

And in the meantime, he says he wants to swim from treacherous Race Rocks to Ediz Hook, just outside Port Angeles, a distance of about nine miles.

A fourth Juan de Fuca Strait aspirant of 1955, Manny Weiss of the "Vegetarian Muscle House," Santa Monica, California made his tentative first plunge into frigid waters Saturday on Bert's training swim.

After 25 minutes in the water he got out with numb hands and is giving further consideration to his ambition to make the swim. Meanwhile, he is working in a local lumber yard.

Several thousand Victorians stood on the waterfront Sunday to see the powerful stroking Thomas practice and experiment with his "transfusion feeding" system.

Water conditions were perfect, the sun shone and the falling tide assisted the jaunt.

YOU'RE RIGHT

Last Month Much Colder

Greater Victorians who thought April was unusually cold were ever so right, weatherman William Mackie confirmed today.

Mean temperature for the month was a record 45.5 degrees, or 3.3 degrees less than normal. Those who would blame atom and hydrogen bombs, though, must find another scapegoat, since the same figure was reached in April of 1911 and 1920.

Amount of snow also was unusual. During all the years of weather recording, up to and including 1954, only 3.8 inches of snow fell in the 67 Aprils on record. Last month, however, 2.9 inches fell. Daily cold records of 35.9 and 35 degrees for April 24 and 25, respectively, also were set.

SUMMARY
Summary of weather facts for the month is as follows: Mean temperature, 45.5 degrees, 3.3 under normal; maximum temperature, 60.1 degrees, April 6; minimum temperature, 32.7 degrees, April 14; minimum on the grass, 29.7 degrees, April 4.

Rainfall, 0.80 inch, or 0.41 below normal; snow, 2.9 inches, all of it above normal; total precipitation, converting snow to rain, 1.09 inches, or 0.12 under normal; number of days with precipitation, 14, three above normal; sunshine, 232.8 hours, 29.6 above normal; total precipitation since Jan. 1, 10.62 inches, 0.37 below normal; total sunshine since Jan. 1, 498.1 hours, or 22.7 below normal.

Ottawa Gives Tax Reprieve But Penalties Exacted Here

A two-day reprieve to file 1954 income tax returns, announced today at Ottawa, is all news to the taxation office here.

"Frankly, I can't believe it," said taxation director C. E. Weston. "We are penalizing people who are coming in with returns today."

According to the Canadian Press dispatch from Ottawa, because the last day to file returns was Saturday, when income tax offices were closed, the revenue department decided to accept returns filed the next business day, today, without in-voking the usual six per cent interest on taxes due.

The local taxation office was open Saturday, and officials there maintain that the reason given for the reprieve there-fore does not apply here.

Loaded Vessel Drydocked Without Hitch

Ss Yiannis Here After Grounding

Delicate operation of dry-docking a fully-loaded freighter was completed without a hitch at Govern-ment Graving Dock, Esqui-malt Harbor, this morning by Yarrows Ltd.

The Panamanian freighter Ss. Yiannis, with 10,000 tons of wheat in her holds, was docked for survey and temporary repairs to bottom plates damaged when she grounded near Stan-ley Park, Vancouver harbor, a week ago.

The work could not be han-dled at Vancouver yards with-out unloading the cargo, so she was brought here under her own power.

SLIGHT DAMAGE
Damage is believed to be slight, and the most difficult part of the repair job was in the drydocking. It is not un-common to dock fully loaded ships, but a wheat cargo makes the job more tricky. Nearly twice the number of shoring timbers are needed than in the case of a lumber cargo.

Yiannis was loaded to the mark, drawing 30 feet aft and 29 forward when she entered the dock.

Divers watched the keel closely as it settled on the blocks. Telephoning details up to dock-side. The pumps were operated slowly until the ship was fairly settled on an even keel, then speeded up to normal.

Navy ships at Esquimalt harbor were in the minority today, with the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, the cruiser Ontario, and the Second Canadian Mine-sweeping Squadron at sea. But the harbor was chock-a-block with "civilian" ships. Yiannis was in the seaward section of the graving dock; ahead of her was one of the Island Tug & Barge tankers in the process of conversion - to a log-carrying barge.

At the HMCS Naden jetty was Ss. Mazatlan, Liberian flag pas-senger ship here for repairs and modernization. Work has been stopped pending settlement of a labor dispute.

Across the harbor at Yarrows, Black Ball Lines Mv Chinook is docked for inspection prior to change of registry from U.S. to Canadian.

On the marine railways at Yar-rows is a British American Oil Co. coastwise tanker for annual overhaul.

Lying alongside is the Prince Rupert based Canadian govern-ment ship Alexander MacKenzie, in final stages of refit.

City Boys Leave On Europe Tour With Kits Band

Four young Victoria musi-cians leave the city tonight on the first leg of a five-month tour which will take them to Western Europe.

They will go with the famed Vancouver Kitsilano Boys' Band on the extended concert tour.

The boys are 19-year-old Den-nis Tupman, Victoria College, son of well-known musician Frank Tupman, 3912 Winton; 18-year-old Earl Hobson, 1326 Haultain Street, Victoria High School; 17-year-old Don Clark, 1562 Elgin, Oak Bay High School, and 15-year-old Don Kirkby, 2925 Prior Street, S. J. Willis Junior High School.

Kirkby was added to the group at the last minute.

He and Clark are trumpeters and the others play the clarinet.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Store-Wide Clothes Sale
Features Navy Blazers
By PENNY SAVER

Here's a good buy for you who haven't yet bought a blazer. I saw navy woot ones on sale for $8.98. They're double-breasted and have three pockets, one bearing a white patterned crest. Many organizations have navy blazers with their own crests stitched on. If you want one of these jackets for this season, just snip the crest from the pocket and attach your own. With pleated or straight skirt, with shorts and slacks, this blazer will carry you through the summer and will be used many times a week.

There's also a sale on a number of other things I saw in this store I visited.

An infant's quilted satin robe costs only $2.98, and similar robes in satin or cotton quilting in larger sizes cost $4.98. There are sizes four to 14, and in many different styles. I saw Paisley patterns and solids, with Peter Pan, cross-over type and Chinese collars. There's a selection of materials, too. Corduroy, satin, silk, cotton, taffeta, wool... all types, and all the same price, $4.98.

Another item of children's clothing that caught my eye was a set for the tiny tots. A little over-blossom has puffed sleeves and a frilled collar. Plastic-lined pants match the blouse, in a print of many-colored dolls against a white background.

The set is $2.98, and would make a good gift for a little niece or cousin. Perfect for sunny days!

For mother to wear while doing housework, pattering around the yard or for relaxing, the fashionable dusters I saw today would be just the thing. They're cotton, and have a three-way belt. It can be worn as an all-around belt, a front-half or back-half belt, and all three ways are most attractive. In turquoise, deep pink and white print, there are short cuffed sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. These versatile dusters are under $4, and a piece of clothing that will be good looking even after many washings.

For a distinctive mantle or table ornament, or for a wedding gift, you'd love the bronze and wood African heads that are being featured in one of the stores in town. One of the heads, made of bronze, is very heavy, and is sitting on a wood base. The other one, of the same size and shape, is very delicate. I picked them both up, expecting them to be the same weight, and found that one was only a quarter the weight of the other. The carved wood head was identical to the cast bronze one. Both are the same price, $15.75.

Spring Ridotto Clears $645;
Fashion Show a Highlight

Third annual Spring Ridotto, held Saturday in the garden at the Rockland Avenue home of Mrs. Herbert W. Richards, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service, was an outstanding success. A sum of approximately $645 was cleared for work of the auxiliary with neglected children, broken homes and unmarried mothers and their babies.

Highlight of the all-day affair was a fashion show in which a bevy of pretty girls competing for "Miss Victoria" title in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Industrial and Agricultural Fair this week, were mannequins. Late spring and summer clothes presented by Miss Kay Trevelyan of the Exclusive Shop in Oak Bay were modeled with Nonie Demaske, Times fashion columnist and official chaperon for the girls, as commentator.

Assisting Mrs. Damaske with arrangements were Mrs. F. Manix of the Jayceettes and Mrs. A. W. Smith, Mrs. G. Fatt and Mrs. R. H. Spilsbury of the auxiliary.

Tea was served in the garden with many visitors coming in from the Garden Tour. Mrs. C. W. Paulin was in charge of arrangements assisted by Mrs. R. Tait, Miss Ellen Brown, Mrs. P. Salloway, Mrs. S. H. Shaw, Mrs. A. Hunkin, Mrs. F. J. Boughton and Mrs. M. Webb. Coffee was served by Mrs. N. E. Sorenson assisted by Mrs. J. McLeod, Mrs. Ireland and Mrs. L. Beddington. Mrs. H. A. Brown convened the sale of tickets and was assisted by Mrs. P. J. Sinnott, Mrs. C. Parrott, Mrs. A. S. C. Black, Mrs. J. A. Baker and Mrs. R. R. Wilde.

The various stalls did a brisk business during the afternoon. Mrs. W. H. Sturrock convened the home cooking and was assisted by Mrs. J. Alexander, Mrs. F. Salter, Mrs. T. Forbes, Mrs. A. Poyntz, Mrs. L. M. Forbes and Mrs. O. Peters.

Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club joined the auxiliary in offering home made candy for sale. Mrs. G. E. G. Whitaker convened the stall for the auxiliary and Miss Echoe Lidster for the club. Assisting were Mrs. L. Bassett, Mrs. W. A. McDonald, Mrs. J. D. Chadderton, Mrs. Matthew Hedley and Mrs. A. S. Barnes, auxiliary; Mrs. Irene Woods, Mrs. Mae MacClement, Mrs. L. Hammill, Mrs. Cora Danby, Misses Verna Beek, Edith Parsell, Lily Henderson and Rose Fanstone, BPW Club.

Mrs. A. Atherton was in charge of the garden stall and her helpers were Mrs. I. S. Douglas, Mrs. P. Mercer, Mrs. E. McKenzie, Mrs. J. Nuttall, Miss Dottie and Miss Peggy McNiven. The White Elephant had Mrs. G. C. Williams in charge with Mrs. J. McKay, Mrs. D. Hunter, Mrs. M. Loury, Mrs. J. McDonald, Mrs. E. Peden and Mrs. A. Blythe assisting.

Mrs. A. Meharey looked after the tombolas and was assisted by Mrs. A. M. Bell, Mrs. W. O'Keefe, Mrs. J. Rowan, Mrs. B. Kenning, Mrs. A. T. Johnsen and Mrs. H. E. Wood.

New Idea in Invalid Care

TORONTO (CP)—Fourteen RCAF nursing sisters from across Canada are taking an intensive five-day training course in team nursing—newish wrinkle in hospital reorganization.

First of the armed services to experiment with the system, the RCAF pioneered a course for the last year at Rockcliffe Hospital, Ottawa.

Fitzroy's Somers of Toronto, during the course, said team nursing consists of nursing and medical assistants working under the supervision of a registered nurse and co-operating as a closely knit unit.

"It gives personnel much greater job satisfaction, develops leadership and tries to understand the patient, treating him as a person rather than an invalid," she said.

The result so far has been a 100 per cent increase in efficiency, she said.

Perrin-Taylor Vows Heard In Spring Floral Setting

Apple blossoms and spring flowers were placed in Centennial United Church for the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Beverley Joan Taylor and James F. Perrin.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Taylor, 176 Crease Avenue, chose a lace and tulle gown with strapless bodice and full, billowing skirt trimmed with sequins. She wore a lace bolero with long sleeves tapering into lily points at the wrists. Pearls inset in lace formed the headband which held her fingertip length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow rosebuds, and her only jewelry was a set of pearl earrings and necklace, a gift of the groom.

Maid of honor, Miss Lorraine Luney, wore a peach net over taffeta gown with lace bodice and matching bolero. Her colonial bouquet was of Kokomo carnations, as was her headband. Bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Herbertson, wore a turquoise net over taffeta gown in the same style and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations and wore a headband to match.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Perrin, 239 Toitross Road, had Lloyd Whitaker as best man, and Bob Haime and Fred Kockott as ushers.

Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiated, and Mrs. M. Wilmhurst played "Because".

Lloyd McCordquodale proposed the traditional toast to the bride at the reception which followed at the Golden Slipper

Ballroom. A three-tier wedding cake iced by the bride's cousin, Hartley Guest, centred the bride's table. It was resting in a mist of white tulle with yellow rosebuds at the base, and was flanked by white candles in silver holders.

The bride donned a blue suit complimented with ping hat and gloves and navy blue shoes and purse, with a corsage of pink carnations for her going-away ensemble. After a honeymoon trip travelling in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Perrin will live at 1048 Amphion Street.

ognition within the councils of the party."

With increasing frequency, he said, the CCF group in parliament had taken a line in foreign affairs that "no matter how honestly taken, can only give comfort to the Communist nations."

"I cite as two examples the recent vote in this house on the question of German rearmament, and the constant CCF criticism of American foreign policy," he said. "I disagree with such views. I think they fail to recognize the necessity for survival, and are fraught with danger for all Canadians."

Thatcher told the House he disagreed with basic CCF policies in the field of social welfare.

"If I am honest, I cannot support the CCF policy of demanding higher and higher benefits without delay—regardless of the nation's ability to pay," he said. "I believe that as the productive capacity of this nation improves and expands, or when our defense commitments become less onerous, it is the duty of our government to improve social welfare measures. But all such measures must bear a relationship to economic facts and realities."

"Irresponsible motions tend only to arouse false hopes and bitterness. There is a real danger to the nation, when any political party, using the taxpayers' own money, recklessly endeavours to buy political favor by outbidding other parties in the social benefits it will pay."

Thatcher said he disagreed with the Socialists also in the party's attitude towards economy in government. He said his former colleagues had been "not only apathetic but actually hostile" to his arguments against what he considered wasteful government spending.

He said the CCF policy on corporation taxation was "unrealistic."

"I oppose the view that such taxes should be materially increased at this time," he said. "I am absolutely convinced that excessive taxation, in normal times on Canadian business and industry, as advocated by the CCF, will create lost markets, fewer jobs, and in the end, threaten the very purpose for which it is advocated—the social welfare of our people."

West Criticized

TORONTO (CP)—Harold Ballard, president of Toronto Marlboros, who won the Memorial Cup in the championship series against Regina Pats on Saturday, says the "west will have to spruce up before they can compete with the east."

Ballard, who returned here Sunday after taking part in the series, said Pats "are just like all other western teams. They are good skaters but they're individualists."

CITY BUDGET

Sample figures released by city assessor Alfred Joyce showed a cross section of the city to be altered as follows:

On 200 residential properties, 100 are up, 100 are down. On 100 commercial properties, 61 are up, 39 are down.

EXAMPLES

One residential property taxed last year at $49 will be taxed at $40 under the new budget. One taxed at $198 went to $206, one at $96 to $89, one at $210 to $230, one at $182 went to $203, one at $46 went to $42, one at $111 went to $109.

Samples of commercial property taxes showed an owner who paid $610 last year paying $598 this year, one paid $595 last year will pay $589 this year. A tax of $3,134 dropped $2,662, one at $2,219 to $1,782.

In the case of both residential and business property, taxes tended to drop where there was a large amount of unimproved land owned by the property-holder.

pointed out that the budget was commenced with less optimism than in other years because only "rigid budgetary control during the latter months of 1954 had averted a deficit."

SMALL SURPLUS

Where the 1953 surplus carried over was $298,185, the 1954 surplus is only $66,229.

"The effect of the 1955 budget is a revenue loss of some $232,000—equivalent to more than 7 per cent of our anticipated 1955 revenues from other than property taxation, or a greater than three-mill increase."

GOP Leader Gives Support To Trade Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland gave his support today to the Senate finance committee's version of the administration's foreign trade bill and said he expects it to go through the Senate without major change.

Both Knowland and Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson believed the Senate might need only a week to pass the bill.

Although the House passed the bill just as the administration wanted it, the administration had to accept a series of finance committee amendments. From the administration viewpoint, however, none of these was viewed as crippling.

The bill would renew for three years the president's authority, now due to expire June 12, to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements with other countries.

Thatcher Ouster Plan Dropped by Sask. CCF

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—The Moose Jaw-Lake Centre Federal CCF Association will not ask Ross Thatcher, former CCF member of Parliament, to resign his seat in the House of Commons.

This decision was contained in a resolution drafted at a closed meeting of the association here Saturday. The group met to discuss action to be taken on Mr. Thatcher's recent resignation from the CCF.

Mr. Thatcher joined the House of Commons last week end when he made the terse statement that he was leaving the party.

The 37-year-old business manager from the Moose Jaw-Lake Centre riding, who has frequently trampled on party doctrine, disclosed his walkout from the CCF at the opening of the April 22 sitting and said he will sit as an independent member for the remainder of the Parliament.

The Moose Jaw Association said Mr. Thatcher's resignation would not be demanded because there was no way the CCF constituency executive could force him to resign.

Soap Coupons Illustrate Sacred Theory

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thomas Irwin, speaker of the B.C. Legislature, says the Social Credit money theory is similar to that of the soap manufacturer and his bonus coupons.

Speaking to the Vancouver East Social Credit Association, Mr. Irwin said "When shelves and machines of a soap company get clogged," they issue bonus coupons to speed the flow of their products.

"If a soap company can do it," he said, "why can't the Canadian government?"

He said a Social Credit government would supplement the money supply if inventories were too high.

Forest Industry Strives For Accident-Free Week

Largest accident-prevention campaign of its kind will swing into action Monday when the forest industry of B.C., in conjunction with labor, launches its forest products safety week.

For the next few days, sawmills, logging camps, pulp and paper mills and plywood plants throughout the province will subordinate everything to the objective of working the week without a lost-time accident among the 20,000 mill workers and 12,000 loggers.

International Woodworkers of America, district one, embracing B.C., is promoting greater safety precautions among its membership of forest product workers, partly through talks from safety director John T. Atkinson, who spoke in Victoria this week.

Mr. Atkinson said experience has shown that during safety week accidents drop 60 per cent.

The rescue occurred 44 miles off the California coast in stormy seas.

None of the raft's occupants had eaten since they set out from San Francisco Friday with plans to drift across 2,500 miles of open ocean to the Hawaiian Islands.

Supreme Moment of Consecration

Rare picture of actual consecration of a bishop shows Archbishop Harold E. Sexton at "laying on of hands" which raises recipient to episcopate. Incumbent kneels in front of Archbishop. Surrounding him are six other bishops: Bishop H. G. Watts, Prince Rupert; Bishop

T. Greenwood, Whitehorse; Archbishop W. R. Adams, New Westminster; Bishop G. P. Gower, Vancouver; Bishop A. H. Sovereign, Vernon, and Bishop Stephen Bayne, Seattle.

Dean Philip Beattie Consecrated Bishop

Christ Church Cathedral Crowded To Capacity for Splendid Ceremony

By W. S. HENDERSON

In a ceremonial of deep devotion and ecclesiastical splendor the Anglican Church consecrated a bishop here Sunday.

The Very Rev. Philip Rodger Beattie, B.A., D.D., was elevated to the episcopate in the presence of a congregation which crowded every available foot of space in the great Gothic edifice which is Christ Church Cathedral.

Those in the nave and the galleries saw in the sanctuary the entire Anglican episcopate of British Columbia and the Yukon, and with them the Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne, bishop of Olympia, Wash.

AGE-OLD PASSAGE

Bishop Bayne joined with the other bishops of the ecclesiastical province in laying hands on the bishop-elect when the Metropolitan, as consecrator, recited the age-old passage "Receive the Holy Ghost for the office and work of a bishop of the Church of God, now committed unto thee by the imposition of our hands." This act, which preserves the episcopal succession, was the high moment of the service.

During the ancient, moving rites, sunshine streamed in under the vaulted dome, touching the people and the clergy with a golden benediction.

The service, notable even for this cathedral, which has seen three bishops consecrated since it was opened in 1929, began with a litany sung in procession, with the congregation standing and singing the responses.

Twice the length of the nave, the procession ended when the crucifier, the choir, the clergy

Horror Comics Outlawed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Governor Averell Harriman today approved a bill designed to sweep horror and sex-filled comic books from the newsstands and to remove lurid publications from the hands of children. The measure makes it a misdemeanor to publish or distribute comic books devoted to sex or brutality or to sell or show any other literature featuring sex or crime to persons under 18. Violators will be subject to jail sentences of up to a year, fines of up to $500 or both.

Tentative Budget Shows Increase; To Be Whittled

Victoria property owners face a possible increase of $174,000 in their tax bill on land and improvements this year unless City Council is able to chop this amount off the tentative city budget submitted by Comptroller Dennis A. Young today.

Road Mishaps Kill 3 in B.C., 4 Youths Drown

Three elderly persons died in B.C. highway mishaps during the week-end. In Quebec, four were killed and one injured in a car collision near Chicoutimi.

In Winnipeg Phillip F. Maxymchuk, 46, was killed by a CNR engine, and Mrs. Ruth Nelson, 45, was unconscious 36 hours after a hit-and-run incident. And at Kenora, Ont., Lake of the Woods was being dragged for the bodies of four Winnipeg youths believed drowned after a boating accident. Michael Maybank, 20, son of Mr. Justice Ralph Maybank of Winnipeg, was one of the missing. The others are David Radcliffe, 20; Dick Freestone, 20, and Philip Pratt, 21.

The three B.C. fatalities occurred in separate accidents.

Near Armstrong, in the Okanagan Valley, J. C. Hopkins, 79, and his wife, 71, both of Armstrong, were killed in a head-on collision.

Other B.C. victim was Antoh Petlak, 78, of Whalley, struck by a car on the King George Highway, near New Westminster.

The total budget calls actually for reduced civic expenditure by comparison with 1954, the proposed overall outlay being $6,601,221 as compared with $7,001,860 last year.

Of this amount the land and property owners would be required to pay $3,259,744, as against $3,085,363 in 1954.

The balance of revenue comes from numerous fees, license charges, government grants, etc. The new budget reflects the application of the new system of school grants and taxation, the government's new scheme of municipal grants, and the entire change in assessments brought about by the equalization scheme which went into effect this year.

FIVE POINTS

Significant facts in the budget include:

1. Although the school budget for the Greater Victoria area has gone up by $418,500, the city's contribution is reduced by $78,500.
2. On the other hand the city loses out in its overall government grants to the extent of $483,667.
3. As compared to a mill rate of 55 mills last year, the tentative rate for this year is 42.5 mills, based on an entirely different method of assessments. One mill on the assessments last year produced $56,097, but on the new assessments one mill produces $74,724.
4. The 42.5 mill rate for 1955 would, however, raise the extra $174,000 indicated in the budget. If council cuts estimates further, it will be reduced accordingly.
5. In the actual application of the new system it is estimated about half the property owners will pay higher taxes, and the other half lower taxes.

SHIFT TO IMPROVEMENTS

The emphasis in the scheme appears to shift the tax burden from land to improvements. Council will sit each afternoon this week to consider ways and means of paring departmental estimates and further improving the tax picture. Night sessions may be held to ward the end of the week.

Comptroller Young showed city accounts down both in revenue and in expenditure, due to the equalization of assessments and the new school formula. It could be compared to other years only in the end result—the effect on tax notices.

SMALL CHANGES

The burden of taxation has apparently been shifted from lands to buildings but in most cases the change amounts only to a few cents or a few dollars.

CITY BUDGET PICTURE

The following table shows the effect of the complete changeover in the city's mill rate for property taxation brought about by the equalization of assessments and the new system of school and municipal grants:

Diem Wins Out; Crushes Rebels

U.S.-Backed Premier Survives Turbulent Indo-China Coups

(Compiled From AP and UP Dispatches)

SAIGON—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, back in the South Viet Nam saddle, today crushed the rebellious Binh Xuyen pirate sect in last-ditch fighting in Cho Lon, Saigon's twin city.

The battle followed a week-end of coups and counter-coups that left the U.S.-backed Diem shakily on top of the Saigon heap.

VY FLEES

Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, named by Dao to succeed Diem in command of the army, lost out in the week-end's bewildering political and military moves, and fled to Dalat, 250 miles to the north.

Diem's junta seized power for the second time Sunday and scheduled a revolutionary assembly Wednesday to again depose French-backed Chief of State Bai Dai.

But Dao said at his French Riviera villa he won't accept the junta's decision and is "determined to return to Indo-China when the confusion is ended."

NEW U.S. PLAN?

Diem's all-out attack on the rebel sect's stronghold followed talks with President Eisenhower's special envoy, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, just returned from Washington. He is said to have brought new U.S. plans to save South Viet Nam from falling prey to the Communists in the north.

Also arriving at Saigon today was Britain's Far East "trouble shooter," Malcolm Macdonald. He will make an on-the-spot report to Sir Anthony Eden at London.

CCF Policies 'Dangerous' Says Thatcher

Commons Told Why He Quit

OTTAWA (BUP)—Independent Member of Parliament Ross Thatcher charged today that growing left-wing influence in the Socialist Party from which he bolted last month was leading it into policies "fraught with danger for all Canadians."

Thatcher entered the budget debate to give the Commons his first full explanation of why he left the party he led to victory in Moose Jaw, Sask., in the three federal elections.

The wealthy young Saskatchewan merchant and rancher detailed for the House his basic disagreement with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation on most of its major policies. He said he would rather "leave public life than have to pretend agreement or hide frustrations."

"For some time I have been fearful of, and in disagreement with what appeared to me to be a growing left-wing tendency within the party," Thatcher said. "The leader of the CCF (M. J. Coldwell) and most of his colleagues, know, have no more use for Communism and its sinister methods than I have. Nevertheless, despite the well meaning and sincerity of most CCF adherents, I feel that left-wing elements have gained a dangerous and unwarranted reach."

Sweden Stops Polio Vaccine Inoculations

(From AP and UP Dispatches)

Sweden abruptly called off the anti-polio vaccination of 120,000 school children today. The board of health at Stockholm announced live virus had been found in some of the Swedish-made vaccine. The board also confiscated a third of the whole store of the Swedish serum. The announcement made no mention of plans for resuming the vaccination program.

Meanwhile, the death of a second Idaho school girl of polio after being inoculated with Salk vaccine from the Cutter laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., was announced by L. J. Peterson, director of the Idaho state health department.

The child, Janet Lee Kincaid, seven, of Moscow, Ida., died in a Spokane, Wash., hospital.

Susan Pierce, seven, of Pocatello, died of polio last Wednesday.

"This means," Peterson said, "that the vaccine conceivably could have been a contributing cause. We will not know for sure until exhaustive tests are completed."

However, in both Washington and London, plans were proceeding for mass inoculation of children with the Salk vaccine.

WORKMEN DROPPED TOOLS IN AMAZEMENT

Margaret Flashes Past Queen In Impromptu Royal Horse Race

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—A royal race—with Queen Elizabeth riding one horse and Princess Margaret another—took place privately at the famous Royal Ascot track at nearby Windsor. Princess Margaret won.

The race of the two royal sisters was run recently in comparative privacy. Forty workmen and a top-hatted riding master being the only witnesses. One of the workmen, engaged in painting the stands, summed up enough courage Sunday to tell about it: "We saw them enter by the gate that joins Windsor Castle ground to the race course. They were in riding clothes, wearing colored head scarves. The Queen had on a yellowish one and the Princess a darker colored scarf. The horses were jet black. Following them on another horse was the riding master from Windsor Castle in top hat."

After walking their horses down to Ascot's Golden Gate, they turned and came back. Just as they reached the three-furlong mark, Princess Margaret turned to the Queen and said something.

Quickly the riding master was left far behind as the royal sisters galloped neck and neck down the stretch. The dazed workmen dropped tools and watched in utter amazement.

It was a ding-dong battle for about 600 yards but with about 30 yards to go Princess Margaret shot her horse ahead and beat the Queen by three lengths.

One of the workmen said Princess Margaret had a far larger horse than her sister. He said they both rode beautifully.

"They were laughing as they pulled up after the race," said the workman, "and then they trotted out the way they had come and went back to the castle."

A few more generous grants from th' province an' our municipal taxes'll be so high we'll never be able t' pay 'em.

If I c'd on'y find out which Viet Nameese want Viet Nam I'd be glad t' give it to 'em.

Looks like Spring's goin' t' git here b'fore Summer, after all.

Proud Times Tee Champ

Gazing fondly at the Times Trophy is Colwood golfer Bill McColl who, Sunday, won the Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open Golf Championship with an 8 and 7 victory over Hugh Morrison in the 36-hole final. McColl now meets Vancouver's Bill Mawhinney at Victoria Club, May 15, in 36-hole final for B.C. championship. Sunday's match has been tentatively scheduled for telecasting on Channel 2 Tuesday at 6.45 p.m. (See Sports Pages for full report, additional pictures.)

Supreme Moment of Consecration

Rare picture of actual consecration of a bishop shows Archbishop Harold E. Sexton at "laying on of hands" which raises to episcopate. Bishop-elect Beattie kneels in front of Archbishop. Surrounding him are six other bishops: Bishop H. G. Watts, Prince Rupert; Bishop T. Greenwood, Whitehorse; Archbishop W. R. Adams, New Westminster; Bishop G. P. Gower, Vancouver; Bishop A. H. Sovereign, Vernon; and Bishop Stephen Bayne, Seattle, of Olympia diocese in Washington. (Times Photos by Strickland.)

Victoria's Dean Philip Beattie Consecrated Bishop of Kootenay

By W. S. HENDERSON

In a ceremonial of deep devotion and ecclesiastical splendor the Anglican Church consecrated a bishop here Sunday.

The Very Rev. Philip Rodger Beattie, BA, DD, was elevated to the episcopate in the presence of a congregation which crowded every available foot of space in the great Gothic edifice which is Christ Church Cathedral.

Those in the nave and the galleries saw in the sanctuary the entire Anglican episcopate of British Columbia and the Yukon, and with them the Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne, bishop of Olympia, Wash.

Bishop Bayne joined with the other bishops of the ecclesiastical province in laying hands on the bishop-elect when the Metropolitan, as consecrator, recited the age-old passage "Receive the Holy Ghost for the office and work of a bishop of the Church of God, now committed unto thee by the imposition of our hands." This act, which preserves the episcopal succession, was the high moment of the service.

During the ancient, moving rites, sunshine streamed in under the vaulted dome, touching the people and the clergy with a golden benediction.

The service, notable even for this cathedral, which has seen three bishops consecrated since it was opened in 1929, began with a litany sung in procession, with the congregation standing and singing the responses.

Twice the length of the nave, the procession ended when the crucifer, the choir, the clergy and the bishops passed into the choir section and sanctuary.

The Metropolitan was celebrant at the communion and the epistle was read by the Rt. Rev. A. H. Sovereign, former bishop of Athabasca. The Gradual was the hymn "Come Down, O Love Divine." Gospel was the Nicene Creed followed, with everyone in the cathedral facing east and then to the high altar.

The sermon was brief. Preacher was Rev. H. F. Woodhouse, principal of the Anglican Theological College, Vancouver, a friend of Dean Beattie.

A bishop, Dr. Woodhouse said, is the "bond of unity" between parishioners, church, and God. The episcopate is a heavy task, with the responsibility of drawing together the secular and the divine.

The part of the service known as the Presentation followed, Archbishop Walter Adams, former Metropolitan, and Bishop G. P. Gower of New Westminster, presented the bishop-elect of the Metropolitan and asking that he be consecrated.

Council Attempting To Whittle Down Tentative Budget

Victoria property owners face a possible increase of $174,000 in their tax bill on land and improvements this year unless City Council is able to chop this amount off the tentative city budget submitted by Comptroller Dennis A. Young this afternoon.

The total budget calls actually for reduced civic expenditure by comparison with 1954, the proposed overall outlay being $6,601,221 as compared with $7,001,860 last year.
